Tie-Break Procedure

The Tie-Break Procedure shall be used whenever two or more participants remain tied for either the Perfect Prediction Grand Prize or the Best Predictor Prize.

1. Closest Final Game Score

The participant whose predicted score of the Football World Cup 2026 Final Game is closest to the official final score of the match shall be declared the winner. The comparison shall be based on the total goals scored by each team at the end of regular playing time, excluding extra time and penalty shootouts. For each team, the difference between the predicted goals and the official goals shall be calculated, and the participant with the lowest total difference shall be declared the winner.

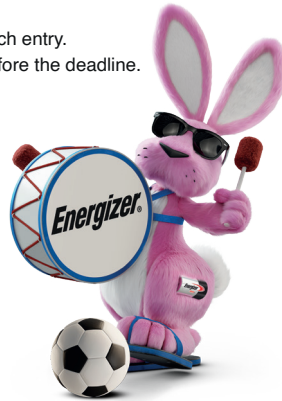

2. Raffle

If two or more participants remain tied after application of the Closest Final Game Score tie-breaker, the winner shall be determined by a random drawing conducted by the organizers. The decision of the organizers shall be final and binding.

BEST PREDICTOR PRIZE

FLs. 1,000.00

- The Best Predictor Prize shall only be awarded if no participant wins the Perfect Prediction Grand Prize.
- In such event, the Best Predictor Prize shall be awarded to the participant who correctly predicts the highest number of knockout-stage match winners.
- For purposes of determining the Best Predictor Prize, each correctly predicted advancing team in the knockout stage shall count as one correct prediction.
- If two or more participants are tied with the same highest number of correct predictions, the official Tie-Break Procedure shall apply.
- If a tie still exists after application of the Tie-Break Procedure, the winner shall be determined by a random drawing conducted by the organizers.
- The organizers' decision shall be final and binding.
